Spotlight on Early Childhood Mental Health Consultation at the Greene ESC

Through a Safe Schools/Healthy Students grant, the Greene ESC launched innovative new services to address a troubling problem affecting the health of our students and safety of our schools.

These concerns impact the educational environment and are often beyond the scope and reach of social service agencies. As a solution, the Greene ESC used Safe Schools Healthy Students grant funding to offer Early Childhood Mental Health (ECMH) Consultation, an evidence-based preventative intervention.

ECMH Consultation includes training early learning professionals (teachers, preschool teachers and daycare providers) in positive behavioral classroom interventions (PBIS) to assist children who demonstrate a need for social, emotional, and/or behavioral support and individualized services, such as assessment and referral.

Parents and caregivers of young children in our region are experiencing high levels of trauma or toxic stress due to a wide range of societal and personal factors.

“We believe all children should have the help and support they need to develop healthy minds to be ready to learn,” said Amanda Castro, Safe Schools/Healthy Students Grant Manager. “Early access to early childhood social emotional intervention helps ensure student success. High quality early education programs yield more than $8 for every $1 invested and clearly show the positive economic impact of investing in our youth.”

Factors such as military service/ deployment; homelessness, transience or relocation; opiate addiction/ substance abuse; poverty/ economic

Superintendent's Message

The Greene County ESC is pleased to be of service to our county school districts. We are committed to providing the best possible programs and services, and we stand by our MISSION: "To promote widespread success for our students by providing essential, effective, specialized, and innovative services that foster collaborative, valued partnerships amongst all stakeholders."

We have been entrenched in our Strategic Planning process for the past five years and will be examining what steps we take in the coming year to continuously develop our organization. We will work hard to keep our stakeholders apprised of our progress. We welcome participation and feedback and wish to keep the lines of communication open throughout the year.

The Greene County ESC is dedicated to hiring excellent people who are experts in their fields. We have an impressive array of specialists who we are proud to count amongst our team. Our employees are dedicated to bringing excellent services to our students. We are honored to have such a wonderful group working in our Greene County schools and programs.

The Greene County ESC takes pride in the services we provide. Those services and programs include but are not limited to alternative education programs, the learning center for students with mental health/emotional needs, intensive needs programming, mental health services, related services such as speech, occupational and physical therapy and adaptive physical education, PAX coaching, and other specialized services. We will tailor professional development programs to meet the needs of our client districts at their requests. During the 2016-17 school year, we started a vision & hearing program, and this school year, we have added audiology services to the department. Another new position for this year is our truancy interventionist which came out of a collaborative effort amongst the school districts, the juvenile courts, and the GCESC.

The Greene County ESC is here to meet the needs of the districts and students whom we serve. I welcome your input and thoughts on how to best do that.

Here's to a great school year!

GCESC Staff Volunteer at JoyRide Event

At the inaugural JoyRide event on August 26th at Austin Landing, five GCESC employees were part of the volunteer crew that helped give about 80 children with special needs the ride of their lives.

JoyRide is an exclusive car club for kids with special needs. During JoyRide events, kids trade the everyday worry of doctor's visits and medication for a chance to cruise in high-end or one-of-a-kind cars.

The children saw and rode in a variety of cars including Audis, BMWs, Ferraris, Lamborghinis, Maseratis, Porsches and others. It looks like staff members Mary Grech, Dawn Koesters, Pat Stewart, Rebecca Montgomery, and Vicki Pauley (pictured below) enjoyed volunteering for this thrilling event as much as the children did.

insecurity; lack of access to services in rural and urban areas; or violence in the home can adversely affect the social-emotional development and behavioral health of young children. Exposure to these toxic stressors can result in children having behavioral and learning problems in early educational settings that can carry over to elementary school.

Teachers and caregivers in early learning programs are generally not trained on how to provide developmentally appropriate support. Without early intervention, these children are at increased risk for developmental delays, academic failure, absence, truancy, suspension or even expulsion, further impeding their chance at success in school.

Children entering Kindergarten with untreated or unidentified social, emotional and behavioral needs put strain on teachers and children as they struggle to get their developmental needs met.

ECMH Consultation has had a positive impact and has benefited from collaborative support from schools, social service agencies, early learning providers, Wright Patterson Airforce Base, community mental health providers, parents, and faith based organizations.

The Greene County ESC is committed to providing services and supports that promote safe and effective learning environments.

The impact of this program is evident: Early Childhood Mental Health Consultation reduces caregivers' stress, boosts caregivers' confidence, keeps young children in

GOOD NEWS: The Safe Schools/Healthy Students (SSHS) grant has been awarded a “no-cost” extension, permitting the use of remaining grant funds to continue services into the 2016-2017 school year.

As we bring the SSHS project to an end, Greene ESC's major accomplishments and successes from throughout the four years of the grant are highlighted in a 7-minute video. Check out the video to learn more about the SSHS by directly hearing from our local and state partners about the impact and importance of our work.

This video can be accessed through this link on the Greene County Educational Service Center's website: <http://greeneesc.org/news/1/171/>.

The video is also currently featured on the Greene ESC homepage, as well as on the Safe Schools/Healthy Students and Early Childhood Mental Health Consultation pages under the Mental Health services section at greeneesc.org.

Wright-Patterson Air Force Base Donates Supplies to Benefit Greene County

The 655th Intelligence, Surveillance, and Reconnaissance Group from Wright-Patterson Air Force Base delivered a welcome gift to the programs at the Greene County Educational Service Center. The group delivered boxes of school supplies that the GCESC will divide amongst their various programs at which they serve students from across Greene County.

On hand to receive the supplies were Jason Miller, Director of the Greene County Learning Center; Kathy Harper, Director of Preschool Programs; Anita Sams, Human Resources Manager; and Terry Graves-Strieter, Superintendent of the GCESC. Major John Stamm, Public Affairs Director, Colonel John McKaye, Chief Master Sergeant David L. Wright, 2Lt. Weson Woodard, and Chief Warrant Officer Jason Twedt from the 2100 Military Intelligence Group (MIG) of the Military Readiness Command delivered the generous donation.

The GCESC wishes to thank Wright Patterson AFB Outreach for this kind gift to the students and programs in Greene County.

“It is truly a community that helps to raise our children,” said Superintendent Graves-Strieter. “We appreciate this gift that will be a benefit to our students, our teachers, our districts, and our programs where we serve many of the students of Greene County. Thank you to Wright Patterson AFB!”

Early Learning Excellence at Greene County Preschools

More than 200 preschoolers are registered and beginning preschool at Greeneview, Friends, and Bellbrook Preschools, operated by the Greene County ESC.

Preschool services include center-based programs and itinerant services offered to students in the Greeneview, Yellow Springs, Cedar Cliff, and Bellbrook-Sugarcreek school districts.

Enrollment is open to children ages 3-5 from each community, including children with delays in development.

Parent participation is a strong focus of the program. Families are invited to participate in classroom activities and events. Communication between home and school is maintained regarding the child's participation and development in the program. Newsletters, progress reports, home visits, and parent/teacher conferences help to ensure that families feel fully informed about their child's experiences at school.

Educational Opportunities Abound at Greene County ESC Programs

Our 2017-2018 school year is well underway! Each new school year brings new people and changes to the Academy. Mrs. Lillian McCree is returning as an Academy teacher, and Mr. Duane Grant (a beloved sub for the ESC) has joined the program as a full-time classroom aide. New to the program is Mr. John Gale, Academy math teacher, and Mrs. Abby Linder, full-time aide. These new hires have already enhanced the Academy experience for students and have helped to support the consistency of expectations, goal-setting, and self-regulation.

After successfully supporting five students to graduation from their home district in 2016-17, the Academy of Greene County kicked off a new school year with several new staff members in place. Mrs. Lillian McCree returned as an Academy teacher and Mr. Duane Grant (a favorite sub at the ESC!) joined the Academy as a full-time classroom aide. New to the program this year are Mr. John Gale, Academy math teacher, and Mrs. Abby Linder, a full-time aide.

At the opening of the school year, the Academy welcomed back several returning students from the Greeneview, Beaver Creek, Bellbrook, Fairborn, Yellow Springs, and Xenia school districts, and gained four students formerly in our Outdoor Advantage (OA) program, who joined the Academy as incoming freshman.

In Outdoor Advantage this year, students are studying habitats, resources and pollutions in their first integrated instructional unit. Lessons include checking for pollution and animals at Spring Lakes park with a Greene County Naturalist, research papers on different types of habitats, and nature hikes.

The High School Intensive Needs Classroom (INC) has added new vocational jobs and made schedule adjustments to maximize students' learning and encourage the development of independent work skills. The weekly cooking class led by the program's speech therapist of occupational therapist saw students making chocolate chip cookies and learning important social and life skills in the process.

Middle School INC students are learning about changing seasons and corresponding holidays, and tying their vocabulary lessons into the fall season. During fall, activities like making paper jack o' lanterns and Thanksgiving turkeys focus on symbols and traditions connected with holidays that occur in the fall.

Students have been busy learning real-world jobs in the workshop, such as packaging school supplies, sorting mail, silverware/condiment packs, shredding, crushing cans, and collating packets. In the classroom, students have been practicing daily living skills such as sorting socks and packing lunch bags and learning about current events using interactive white boards, video clips, picture-supported text, and class discussion.

Elementary INC students are working to learn school routines and their individual schedules. Staff members are encouraging independence as appropriate and supporting students to try new skills. Students are practicing social lessons by interacting with their peers, as a group and are growing more and more proficient in sharing, waiting their turn, and behaving appropriately during Teacher Time and cooking class.

New this year to our elementary program are schedule vocational workshop times each day. In these workshops, they are exposed to proper procedures, behaviors, and new jobs to complete. By assigning daily jobs to students, they develop a sense of self-sufficiency, and pride in their accomplishments and involvements in the day-to-day operations at school. Physical Education time with Mrs. Lynn and using the Interactive White Board during Teacher Time enhances the school experience!

Our staff members and students are looking to continuing this exciting growth with students at the Academy, Outdoor Advantage and our INC classrooms!

WOSC Professional Development Opportunities

The Western Ohio Service Collaborative (WOSC) strives to offer the highest quality professional development and training services for western Ohio and in particular the seven county region supporting this collaborative. The ESCs of Clark, Darke, Greene, Miami, Montgomery, Preble, and Warren Counties have formed a collaborative entity in order to better coordinate our combined resources. WOSC's team of specialists includes Greene ESC's own Jason Miller, Timothy Callahan and Kathy Harper.

WOSC will offer the following Professional Development opportunities this fall:

October 5, 2017 and October 31, 2017 (Two-Day Workshop) Collaborative Guided Reading Instruction for General Education and Intervention Specialists Grades 3-5 with Pam Bauser

This two-day workshop is designed to provide teachers and intervention specialists the opportunity to collaborate and explore the potential of Guided Reading instruction in the intermediate classroom. Teachers and intervention specialists will have the opportunity to implement Guided Reading practices to create lesson plans and to assess students reading skills to determine how to effectively grow more independent readers utilizing fluency, vocabulary, acquisition, and strategies for comprehension. (Miami Valley Regional Center)

November 8, 2017

Teaching Kids To Thrive With Co-Author Dedra Stafford

Rick Wormeli, in the forward of this book, states "I don't know if I have ever seen a book that gathers so many highly-regarded and well-researched principles of social and emotional learning in one place and makes them so compelling and doable." Why do some students succeed during challenging times while others struggle? Recent research points to fundamental ways educators can improve our teaching practices to help students develop "thrive skills" that focus on the non-cognitive competencies. Topics include self-regulation and impulsivity, executive function, self-efficacy, perseverance, resilience and optimism, responsibility, mindfulness, collaboration, communication, empathy and gratitude. Dedra will provide research alongside a myriad of ideas, strategies and tools for helping students "stay the course" in both their academics and their lifelong goals. Come laugh, learn and THRIVE like never before! (Miami Valley Regional Center)

November 9, 2017

Self-Regulation in the Classroom to Support Positive Behaviors

This workshop will focus on positive behavior supports and classroom implementation and introduction to zones of regulation, sensory patterns and their influence on learning and behaviors, and how to develop self-regulation strategies to aid all students.

November 9, 2017

Section 504 Comprehensive Presentation with Melissa Bondy

From Bricker and Eckler, Attorneys at Law—Miami Valley Regional Center.

This presentation will cover the Section 504 basics, the law, the regulations, as well as review the child find process from evaluation to planning, to the development of the plan and procedural safeguards. There will be a question and answer period. The afternoon will be an optional work session with building teams.

Additional information regarding these and other professional development offerings can be found on the WOSC website at woscpd.org.

Fun, Fast and Effective Treatments for Speech Sound Disorders

Applying the efficiency framework of Judith Gierut and others for treatment of phonological disorders, particularly in a school setting.

This presentation will discuss current assessment and intervention strategies for children with speech sound disorders, with an emphasis on linguistically based analysis, target selection, and intervention methods. Practical strategies for implementation in a school or clinical setting, with emphasis on treatment based on detailed diagnostic analysis will be reviewed. This seminar will examine the question of how current linguistic strategies, which were developed in a clinical setting with optimal clinician ratios, scheduling, and caseloads, can be applied in the school setting, under different conditions. Application of these concepts to children with potential childhood apraxia of speech will also be discussed. Key components of effective therapy will be the primary focus of the session.
